Whether you're just starting out and need help developing a business plan, or you're an established business looking to expand, the SBA has resources to help you succeed. This article will provide you with a comprehensive overview of the SBA, its mission, services, and resources, so that you can take advantage of everything the SBA has to offer.

The SBA's Mission

The SBA's mission is to "aid, counsel, assist and protect the interests of small business concerns, preserve free competitive enterprise and maintain and strengthen the overall economy of our nation." The SBA accomplishes this mission by providing financial assistance, counseling and training, and advocacy for small businesses.

SBA Services

The SBA offers a wide range of services to help small businesses, including:

- Loans: The SBA offers a variety of loan programs to help small businesses get the financing they need to start and grow their businesses. These loans are typically more flexible and affordable than traditional bank loans.
- Counseling and Training: The SBA provides free and low-cost counseling and training to help small businesses succeed. This counseling and training can cover a wide range of topics, such as business planning, marketing, and financial management.
- Government Contracting: The SBA helps small businesses compete for government contracts. The SBA offers a variety of programs and services to help small businesses get started with government contracting, including training, mentoring, and access to capital.

- Advocacy: The SBA advocates for the interests of small businesses at the federal level. The SBA works to ensure that small businesses have a voice in the policymaking process, and it fights for policies that support small business growth.

SBA Resources

In addition to its services, the SBA also offers a variety of resources to help small businesses, including:

- Online Resources: The SBA's website provides a wealth of information for small businesses, including articles, videos, and downloadable resources. The SBA's website also has a searchable database of small business resources, so you can find the information you need quickly and easily.
- Local Offices: The SBA has a network of local offices across the country. These offices provide face-to-face counseling and training to small businesses. You can find your local SBA office on the SBA's website.
- Partnerships: The SBA partners with a variety of organizations to provide support to small businesses. These partnerships include banks, chambers of commerce, and community colleges. The SBA's website has a directory of SBA partners, so you can find the resources you need in your community.
