A Life Torn Apart

Winnie Kanoyangwa's childhood was abruptly shattered by the eruption of a brutal civil war in his homeland. As a young boy, he witnessed the horrors of violence firsthand, including the murder of his family. Desperate for survival, Winnie was forced into the ranks of Joseph Kony's notorious Lord's Resistance Army (LRA), a rebel militia that terrorized northern Uganda.

Escape and a Glimmer of Hope

After enduring years of unimaginable suffering and brutality, Winnie managed to escape the clutches of the LRA. However, his journey to safety was far from over. He wandered for days, alone and vulnerable, before stumbling upon a group of people who risked their lives to help him. They provided him with food, shelter, and medical attention, offering him a glimmer of hope in the darkest of times.

A New Home, a New Beginning

Winnie's remarkable story eventually reached the ears of a Ugandan organization called the Ugandan Childcare Foundation. Moved by his plight, they arranged for him to travel to the United States, where he was placed in a loving foster home. For the first time in his life, Winnie experienced stability, security, and the unconditional love of a family.

A Voice for the Voiceless

Despite the horrors he had endured, Winnie's spirit remained unbroken. As he grew older, he realized that he had a unique opportunity to share his story with the world and advocate for other children affected by war and violence. He has since become a passionate advocate for children's rights, speaking at numerous events and working with organizations dedicated to ending the use of child soldiers.
